CLAIMS

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1

2

5

- 1. A combination of a cylindrical container having a volume for storing a plurality of sport balls and a testing device for testing playing condition of one of the sport balls, wherein the container includes means to receive the testing device so as to form a test chamber accommodating only one of the sport balls, and wherein the testing device includes an indicator to provide a visual indication of a force exerted in the axial direction by a partially compressed sport ball.
 - The device of claim 1 wherein the sport balls are tennis balls.